1 I. INTRODUCTION

2 Since the onset of discovery in November 2016, Defendants Charlie and 3 Frank Ferrara (collectively, “Defendants”), along with their counsel at Bremer 4 Whyte Brown & O’Meara (“Defendants’ counsel”), failed to perform due diligence 5 when responding to discovery, were untruthful in response to discovery requests, 6 withheld evidence in violation of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and this 7 Court’s Order, and destroyed critical evidence. Defendants’ and their counsel’s 8 obstructive conduct warrants the imposition of sanctions to compensate Plaintiffs for 9 their time and effort to obtain the discovery to which they are entitled and to 10 discipline Defendants for destroying critical (and likely incriminating) evidence.

11 Defendants initially concealed the existence of responsive information by 12 refusing production of relevant cell phone bills and denying possession of any text 13 messages with co-Defendants. Notably, however, Defendants’ cell phones were not 14 searched until approximately eight months later. That Defendants’ counsel could 15 respond to the discovery requests on behalf of their clients and proclaim that no 16 responsive information existed, having never required their clients to search or 17 image their cell phones, is astonishing. Were it not for a co-Defendants’ privilege 18 log, which lists numerous communications between Defendants and Sang Lee, 19 Plaintiffs might not have discovered Defendants’ deceptive conduct and this 20 relevant evidence.

21 After learning of the existence of this responsive information, Plaintiffs 22 communicated with Defendants’ counsel approximately a dozen times over seven 23 months. Plaintiffs finally sought this Court’s assistance and, despite a Court order 24 requiring the production of responsive information within several days’ time, Frank 25 Ferrara untimely produced incomplete records and Charlie Ferrara failed to produce 26 any cell phone data in violation of the Court’s order. It was only after a second 27 Court hearing that Charlie Ferrara finally produced his (heavily redacted) cell phone 28 records – two days after filing his summary-judgment motion.

1 Perhaps most disconcerting is Defendants' spoliation of critical evidence.
2 Despite Defendants' obligation to preserve evidence at the outset of litigation in the 3 Spring of 2016, and even after receiving Plaintiffs' discovery requests in November 4 2016, Defendants did not attempt to preserve or obtain their cell phone data and bills 5 until July 2017. By ignoring their discovery obligations for so many months, 6 critical evidence was destroyed and, conveniently, Defendants are now unable to 7 obtain records from the most pertinent time period in this matter. Had Defendants 8 and their counsel properly or diligently responded to Plaintiffs' discovery requests at 9 the time they were served – or even at some point during the seven months of meet 10 and confer discussions that followed – they would have been able to obtain the 11 records for the critical time period.

12 Defendants' and their counsel's disregard for the rules of discovery and 13 disobedience of this Court's Order constitute sanctionable conduct. Plaintiffs ask 14 the Court to issue monetary sanctions against Defendants and their counsel at 15 Bremer Whyte.

16 II. FACTUAL AND PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

17 A. Procedural Background

18 On March 29, 2016, Plaintiffs filed a class action lawsuit against a group of 19 defendants for their participation in unlawful gang activity perpetuated on outsiders 20 who dared to venture to Lunada Bay. See Complaint, ECF No.1. Defendants 21 Charlie and Frank Ferrara were served with the Complaint in July 2016 and they 22 each filed an answer on September 2, 2016. See Proof of Service, ECF No. 115 and 23 Answer to Complaint, ECF Nos. 124, 125. However, Frank Ferrara – the self-24 designated original "protector" of Lunada Bay – was aware of this action well 25 before he was served: he was quoted in a Daily Breeze article denying the 26 allegations in this case on April 7, 2016. Wolff Decl., Ex. 1.

1 B. Plaintiffs Served Document Requests in November 2016;
2 Defendants' Responses Were Untruthful.

3 On November 16, 2016, Plaintiffs propounded requests for production of 4 documents on Charlie and Frank Ferrara. Wolff Decl., Exs. 2 & 3. Among other 5 items, the requests sought copies of Charlie and Frank Ferrara's cell phone bills 6 from January 1, 2013 to present, text messages with surfers who regularly surf 7 Lunada Bay, and text messages or records of phone calls with a co-defendant. Id. at 8 Req. Nos. 5 (text messages with surfers who regularly surf Lunada Bay), 7 (text 9 messages or phone calls with a co-defendant), 40 (cell phone bills since January 1, 10 2013). In their responses, Defendants' counsel attested to the fact that Defendants 11 had no responsive text messages or records of phone calls and asserted that 12 Plaintiffs' request for their cell phone bills was too burdensome. Not a single 13 document was produced in response to Plaintiffs' 46 document requests. Wolff 14 Decl. ¶ 4, Exs. 4 & 5.

15 At the same time, Defendant Sang Lee responded to nearly-identical 16 document requests seeking text messages or records of phone calls with a co-17 defendant and produced a privilege log evidencing numerous communications 18 (including text messages and phone calls) between and among Defendants Charlie 19 Ferrara, Frank Ferrara, and Sang Lee. Wolff Decl., Ex. 6 at p. 4, 13, 14.

20 C. Plaintiffs' Counsel Engaged in a Seven-Months' Long Meet-and- 21 Confer Process with Defendants' Counsel to No Avail.

22 Beginning on January 24, 2017, Plaintiffs' counsel began meeting and 23 conferring with counsel for Defendants regarding Defendants' failure to produce 24 any responsive documents. Wolff Decl., ¶ 6 & Ex. 7. Plaintiffs' counsel pressed 25 Defendants' counsel on the production of these responsive and relevant documents 26 on at least a dozen occasions from January 24, 2017 to July 25, 2017:

- 27 • January 24, 2017: Email to Defendants' Counsel (Ex. 7) 28 • February 1, 2017: Email from Defendants' Counsel (Ex. 8)

- 1 • February 8, 2017: Email to Defendants’ Counsel (Ex. 9)
- 2 • February 10, 2017: Email to Defendants’ Counsel (Ex. 10)
- 3 • March 1, 2017: Email correspondence with Defendants’ Counsel (Ex.
- 4 11)
- 5 • April 14, 2017: Email to Defendants’ Counsel (Ex. 12)
- 6 • April 17, 2017: Email exchange with Defendants’ Counsel (Ex. 13)
- 7 • April 21, 2017: Telephonic discussion with Defendants’ Counsel
- 8 (Wolff Decl. ¶ 13)
- 9 • May 1, 2017: Email to Defendants’ Counsel (Ex. 14)
- 10 • June 27, 2017: Letter to Defendants’ Counsel (Ex. 15)
- 11 • July 3, 2017: Telephonic discussion with Defendants’ Counsel (Wolff
- 12 Decl. ¶ 15)
- 13 • July 10, 2017: Email exchange with Defendants’ Counsel (Ex. 17)
- 14 • July 11, 2017: Email to Defendants’ Counsel (Ex. 18)
- 15 • July 12, 2017: Call and email with Defendants’ Counsel (Wolff Decl. ¶
- 16 19, Ex. 19)
- 17 • July 18, 2017: Letter to Defendants’ Counsel (Ex. 20)
- 18 • July 24, 2017: Telephonic discussion with Defendants’ Counsel (Wolff
- 19 Decl. ¶ 24)
- 20 • July 25, 2017: Email to Defendants’ Counsel (Ex. 25)

21 During these discussions and email exchanges, Defendants’ counsel stated that they 22 would “inquire into imaging” their clients’ phones and were “working on” obtaining 23 the documents. Wolff Decl., Exs. 20 (July 10 email) & 11 (March 1 email).

24 D. Defendants and Their Counsel Failed to Preserve Relevant 25 Evidence and Produced Documents Late, in Violation of this 26 Court’s Order.

27 It became clear in early July 2017 that Defendants and their counsel never 28 intended to produce documents, had not made any effort to gather responsive documents, and had not even taken steps to preserve responsive information. For

1 instance, during a July 3, 2017 telephonic discussion between counsel for Plaintiffs 2 and counsel for Defendants, Defendants’ counsel stated that she would see if her 3 clients could obtain copies of their cell phone bills online (in other words, they had 4 not yet tried). Decl. Wolff, ¶ 15. Defendants’ counsel also admitted that her office 5 had not taken any steps to preserve the data on Defendants’ cell phones.¹ Id.
6 Indeed, Defendants’ counsel indicated that she was not even sure if her clients’ text 7 messages still existed. Id. Defendants’ counsel’s statements were consistent with 8 her client’s testimony four days later during his July 7, 2017 deposition, when 9 Charlie Ferrara stated that he had not taken any steps to preserve his data. Wolff 10 Decl. Ex. 16 at 172:25-173:4. He further declared that he “ha[d]n’t tried very hard” 11 to obtain his cell phone bills. Id. at 165:6-7. Defendant Charlie Ferrara's cavalier 12 attitude toward discovery was encouraged by his counsel's obstreperous conduct at 13 his deposition, where both Defendants' counsel and her client laughed on the record 14 at various times in response to serious questions. Id. at 55:6-59:1.

15 On July 10, 2017, having received no responsive documents or further 16 correspondence from Defendants’ counsel, Plaintiffs’ counsel sought relief from the 17 Court. Wolff Decl. ¶ 17. A telephonic hearing was held on July 13, 2017, at which 18 time Defendants’ counsel admitted her office still had not imaged Defendants’ cell 19 phones. Wolff Decl., ¶ 20. This Court ordered Charlie and Frank Ferrara to 20 produce responsive documents (including those obtained from an imaging of their

21
22 ¹ Counsel for Defendants, Tiffany Bacon, stated at the July 26, 2017 hearing that “I 23 know that as soon as Ms. Wolff reached out to me – I believe it was in June of this 24 year – to follow up on the discovery requests, I immediately discussed this issue 25 with my clients. And I know that they began efforts then.” Decl. Wolff, Ex. 23 at 26 13:4-7. However, Ms. Wolff first communicated with Ms. Bacon on April 14, 2017 27 (though Ms. Wolff had communicated with Ms. Bacon’s office on this same issue 28 since January 2017). Id., Ex. 12. And as of July 3, 2017, Defendants’ counsel still had not made any effort to image their clients’ cell phones or access their clients’ cell phone bills online. Decl. Wolff, ¶ 15.

1 cell phones and their cell phone bills) by 5:00 p.m. on July 17, 2017. Minute Order, 2 7/13/17, Docket No. 267.

3 Defendants did not abide by the Court's Order. First, their production was 4 late. After 5:00 p.m. on July 17, 2017, Plaintiffs received a partial production from 5 Defendants. Wolff Decl. ¶ 21. Plaintiffs then received another partial production 6 late on July 21, 2017, four days after the Court-ordered deadline. Wolff Decl. ¶ 23.

7 Second, Defendants redacted the vast majority of the documents they 8 produced, even though they never asserted any privilege in response to the initial 9 document requests. Wolff Decl. ¶ 21. To make matters worse, Defendants also 10 failed to provide a privilege log, which would have allowed Plaintiffs to assess the 11 validity of the redactions made. Id.

12 Third, Defendants' production was incomplete in three significant ways.
13 They produced their cell phone bills dating back only to February 21, 2016, even 14 though Plaintiffs' requests sought bills dating from January 1, 2013, and despite 15 Defendants being well aware that relevant events occurred prior to February 21, 16 2016 – including a Bay Boy attack on the Plaintiffs on January 29, 2016, and the 17 sexual harassment of Diana Reed (in which Charlie Ferrara participated by 18 attendance) on February 13, 2016. Wolff Decl. ¶ 21, Ex. 20. Additionally, 19 Defendants failed to produce any text messages between Charlie Ferrara and/or 20 Frank Ferrara and co-defendant Mr. Lee. Wolff Decl. ¶ 21, Ex. 20. Finally, neither 21 belated production contained any of Charlie Ferrara's cell phone data or text 22 messages, despite the Court's Order and Defendants' counsel's initial assurance that 23 it did. See Wolff Decl. ¶¶ 21, 22, Ex. 21.

24 When Plaintiffs' counsel inquired about the missing data on July 24, 2017, 25 Defendants' counsel admitted that Charlie Ferrara's data had not been produced.
26 Wolff Decl. ¶ 24. She claimed the failure was due to the extraction report being 27 voluminous, which was taking her a long time to go through. Id. Indeed, 28 Defendants' counsel repeated this excuse to the Court two days later at the July 26,

1 2017 hearing, and although she made conflicting statements about the relevance of 2 this information, she ultimately admitted that she had failed to comply with the 3 Court's order:

4 MS. BACON: I produced responsive information
5 pursuant to the Court's Order. I could not produce Charlie 6 Ferrara's report because it was simply not ready. And 7 there was information in there that is not responsive to the 8 request . . .

9 THE COURT: . . . I could be mistaken but my 10 recollection is that there was an order to produce this 11 information on Monday, July 17th.

12 MS BACON: There was an order to produce 13 responsive information, which is precisely what I did.

14 THE COURT: So, then what are you producing today?

15 MS. BACON: That is additional responsive
16 information.

17 THE COURT: Okay. Where did that come from?

18 MS. BACON: From the extraction reports . . .

19 MS. BACON: I produced responsive information 20 pursuant to the court's order. I don't recall that the 21 Court's order said I was required to produce all responsive
22 information.

23 (Brief Pause.)

24 MS. BACON: I understand. I understand, Your 25 Honor. I produced responsive information on the day that 26 it was – the order to be produced.

27 THE COURT: You just chose not to produce all of it.

28 Wolff Decl., Ex. 23 at 15:20-23, 16:3-12, 16:24-17:7. Ultimately, Charlie Ferrara produced his heavily-redacted cell phone data following the Court hearing on July 26, 2017 at the Court's urging.

E. Defendants Now Seek to Unfairly Benefit from their Discovery Abuses by Seeking Summary Judgment.

On July 24, 2017 – just three days after Frank Ferrara's second document production and two days before Charlie Ferrara produced any documents –

1 Defendants filed motions for summary judgment, arguing that Plaintiffs' claims 2 against them should fail for lack of evidence. Docket Nos. 285, 286. Specifically, 3 Defendants asserted that there is "a complete dearth of any facts" demonstrating 4 Charlie or Frank's involvement in acts or omissions supporting Plaintiffs' claims.
5 Docket Nos. 285-5 at 2:20-22 & 286-1 at 2:20-22.

6 Plaintiffs filed a motion under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 56(d) on 7 August 8, 2017, seeking relief from Defendants' summary-judgment motions based 8 on their history of withholding evidence. Docket No. 397.

9 F. Plaintiffs Have Expended Significant Resources Pursuing 10 Discovery from Charlie and Frank Ferrara.

11 Plaintiffs' counsel, Hanson Bridgett LLP and Otten Law, PC, have been 12 representing Plaintiffs in this matter on a pro bono basis. Wolff Decl., ¶ 27.
13 Defendants' refusal to comply with basic discovery rules and ethical obligations has 14 forced Plaintiffs' counsel to incur significant expense in this matter. In total, 15 counsel has expended 66.1 hours at a cost of $30,562.50 pursuing a complete 16 production of documents from Charlie and Frank, including through meet and 17 confer efforts, telephonic hearings with this Court, and preparing this instant motion.
18 Wolff Decl. ¶ 27 & Ex. 24. Plaintiffs anticipate devoting an additional three hours 19 at a cost of $1,575 to this matter for preparation and attendance at the hearing before 20 this Court on August 23, 2017. Wolff Decl. ¶ 28. In total, Plaintiffs seek 21 $32,137.50 in sanctions against Defendants and their counsel at Bremer Whyte.

22 III. LEGAL STANDARD

23 The Court is empowered to issue sanctions on a party and/or the party's 24 attorney under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 37, Central District Local Rule 83-7, 25 and the Court's inherent power to manage its affairs. The Court's power to award 26 sanctions for the destruction or spoliation of evidence is inherent and discretionary.
27 Glover v. BIC Corp., 6 F.3d 1318, 1329 (9th Cir. 1993); In re Napster, Inc.
28 Copyright Litigation, 462 F. Supp. 2d 1060, 1066 (N.D. Cal. 2006). In evaluating a 1 party's request for sanctions for spoliation of evidence, courts generally apply the 2 following three-party test: (1) whether the party having control over the evidence 3 was obligated to preserve it when it was destroyed or altered; (2) whether the 4 destruction or loss was accompanied by a culpable state of mind; and (3) whether 5 the evidence that was destroyed was relevant to the claims or defenses of the party 6 seeking discovery of the spoliated evidence. Zublake v. UBS Warburg LLD, 220

7 F.R.D. 212, 216 (S.D.N.Y. 2003); Montoya v. Orange County Sheriff's Dep't., 2013
8 WL 6705992 *7, Case No. SACV 11-1922 JGB (RNBx) (C.D. Cal. Oct. 15, 2013).
9 If the court finds that spoliation occurred, it is tasked with imposing sanctions 10 "commensurate to the spoliating party's motive or degree of fault in destroying the 11 evidence." Apple, Inc. v. Samsung Electronics Co., 888 F. Supp. 2d 976, 992 (N.D.
12 Cal. 2012).

13 Additionally, a party is entitled to an award of attorneys' fees where the 14 opposing party fails to obey a discovery order. Fed. R. Civ. P. 37(b)(2)(C).

15 Here, Defendants and their counsel engaged in egregious conduct which 16 necessitated one Court Order and two hearings (after Defendants' counsel disobeyed 17 the initial Order) and also resulted in the destruction of critical evidence. Such 18 conduct warrants the imposition of sanctions, as explained below.

19 IV. ARGUMENT

20 A. Defendants' and Their Counsel's Willful Spoliation of Evidence 21 Warrants the Imposition of Severe Sanctions.

22 Application of the three-part Zublake test supports this Court's imposition of 23 severe sanctions against Defendants and their Counsel. A defendant's duty to 24 preserve evidence arises as soon as litigation is "reasonably anticipated." Apple, 25 Inc., 881 F. Supp. 2d at 1136. Indeed, "the duty to preserve material evidence arises 26 not only during litigation but also extends to that period before the litigation when a 27 party reasonably should know that the evidence may be relevant to anticipated 28 litigation." Silvestri v. General Motors Corp., 271 F.3d 583, 591 (4th Cir. 2001).

1 Here, Defendants’ obligation to preserve evidence incepted – at the latest – on July 2 26, 2016, when they were served in this matter. See Docket No. 91. More likely, at 3 least for Frank, his obligation to preserve evidence arose when the lawsuit was filed, 4 and certainly – no later than April 7, 2016, when he was quoted in a Daily Breeze 5 speaking out against this lawsuit. Wolff Decl., Ex. 1. The Complaint includes 6 allegations that, inter alia, the Defendants engaged in a conspiracy to exclude 7 outsiders and that they “coordinate their efforts [through] . . . use of cell phones.”
8 Compl. ¶ 47 [Docket No. 1]; see also id., ¶ 59 (“Defendants, individually, 9 collectively, and in concert proclaim their ownership of the Lunada Bay area by 10 coordinating their efforts to prevent public access by using . . . cell phones.”). These 11 allegations should have alerted Defendants that their cell phone data would be 12 relevant to this matter and they should have taken steps to preserve their data at that 13 time.

14 Defendants’ Counsel has represented that the Defendants’ cell phone carrier’s 15 retention policy is to preserve the most recent 18 months’ worth of cell phone bills.
16 See Wolff Decl., Ex. 23 at 7:2-4. Thus, Defendants’ cell phone records are 17 routinely destroyed on an ongoing basis, unless affirmative efforts are made to 18 preserve their bills. Here, Defendants made no efforts to obtain their cell phone bills 19 until July 2017. By waiting over a year to obtain and preserve relevant evidence, 20 Defendants knowingly permitted (and caused) the destruction of critical evidence.
21 Most notably, Defendants’ bill containing evidence of their cell phone activity 22 during the time period that is most relevant to this case – January 29, 2016 through 23 February 13, 2016 – could have been preserved had Defendants not chosen to ignore 24 their evidence preservation obligation. Indeed, the cell phone bill containing this 25 relevant time period likely was not destroyed until June 2017. Thus, the first prong 26 of the Zublake test – Defendants’ control over the evidence at the time of its 27 destruction – is easily satisfied here.

28 Second, it is clear the Defendants and their counsel acted with a culpable state

1 of mind. Bad faith is not required to prove this element; rather, mere negligence or 2 a “conscious disregard” suffices. Cobb v. BSH Home Appliances Corp., 2014 WL 3 12591841 *3, Case No. SACV 10-0711 DOC (ANx) (C.D. Cal. Sept. 22, 2014).
4 Here, Defendants’ conduct amounts to negligence at best and more likely constitutes 5 bad faith. Defendants’ failure to preserve this relevant evidence at the outset of 6 litigation may have been merely negligent. Their continued failure (and refusal), 7 however, to do so after Plaintiffs’ November 2016 discovery requests and repeated 8 and consistent meet and confer efforts that followed demonstrate bad faith.
9 Defendants’ conduct is made more egregious by the fact that responsive documents 10 did exist at the time Plaintiffs initially requested them, despite Defendants’ (and 11 their counsel’s) representations to the contrary. But Plaintiffs’ counsel’s persistent 12 requests for this information went ignored, all while critical evidence was being 13 destroyed. Defendants’ and their counsel’s blatant disregard of their discovery 14 obligations demonstrates a culpable state of mind. See Zublake, 220 F.R.D. at 216.

15 Finally, the destroyed evidence – in this case, the relevant cell phone bills – is 16 highly relevant to Plaintiffs’ claims in this matter. As indicated previously, 17 Plaintiffs have alleged that Defendants conspired to exclude outsiders from 18 accessing Lunada Bay through use of cell phones, among other things. The 19 Plaintiffs in this case were assaulted and harassed by Defendants on January 29, 20 2016, February 5, 2016, and February 13, 2016. Yet, by the time Defendants 21 obtained their cell phone bills, the earliest-available bill for either Defendant only 22 dates back to February 21, 2016 – conveniently over a week after the last attack on 23 Plaintiffs. This evidence was critical to Plaintiffs’ claims and was available at the 24 time Plaintiffs initiated this suit, at the time Plaintiffs propounded document 25 requests, and at the time Plaintiffs engaged in a months-long meet and confer effort.
26 See Zublake, 220 F.R.D. at 216.

27 Plaintiffs’ clear satisfaction of all three Zublake factors establishes Plaintiffs’ 28 entitlement to sanctions as against Defendants and their counsel.

1 B. Defendants and their Counsel Should Similarly be Sanctioned 2 Under Federal Rule 37(b) for their Willful Failure to Comply with 3 this Court’s July 13, 2017 Order.

4 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 37 provides a host of remedies for parties 5 aggrieved by discovery abuses. Where a party fails to obey a discovery order, this 6 Court may impose sanctions in the form of reasonable expenses, including 7 attorney’s fees against the “disobedient party, the attorney advising that party, or 8 both.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 37(b)(2); Wyle v. R.J. Reynolds Industries, Inc. (9th Cir.
9 1983) 709 F.2d 585, 589. Central District Local Rule 83-7 similarly authorizes the 10 imposition of sanctions on parties that fail to comply with orders of the Court.

11 Local Rule 83-7 states:

12 The violation of or failure to conform to any of these 13 Local Rules may subject the offending party or counsel to:
14 (a) monetary sanctions, if the Court finds that the conduct 15 was willful, grossly negligent, or reckless; (b) the 16 imposition of costs and attorneys’ fees to opposing 17 counsel, if the Court finds that the conduct rises to the 18 level of bad faith and/or a willful disobedience of a court 19 order; and/or (c) for any of the conduct specified in (a) and 20 (b) above, such other sanctions as the Court may deem 21 appropriate under the circumstances.

22 Here, Defendants and their counsel acted in bad faith or were grossly 23 negligent in their failure to comply with this Court’s July 13, 2017 order. Despite a 24 clear order to produce her clients’ cell phone data and bills, Defendants’ counsel 25 stated that she did not believe they were obligated to produce “all” such information 26 in a timely manner. Indeed, not only were Defendants’ productions untimely, but 27 they were also grossly incomplete as they omitted Charlie Ferrara’s cell phone data 28 in its entirety. Wolff Decl. ¶¶ 23-24. When Plaintiffs’ counsel met and conferred to address these (and other) deficiencies, Defendants’ counsel initially advised that Charlie’s data was included in the production. Wolff Decl., ¶ 22 & Ex. 21. Only several days later did Defendants’ counsel acknowledge that his data was omitted, and even then attempted to excuse Charlie Ferrara’s noncompliance because it was purportedly burdensome. Id. at ¶ 24. Yet, Defendants’ counsel made absolutely no

1 effort to alert the Court or the Plaintiffs to this fact and failed to seek any sort of 2 relief or extension. And most disturbing, Charlie Ferrara saw fit to file a motion for 3 summary judgment on the grounds that there is a “dearth of evidence” 4 demonstrating his liability while simultaneously guarding all relevant evidence in 5 his possession in direct violation of this Court’s July 13, 2017 Order.

6 Defendants’ flagrant disregard for the Federal Rules and this Court’s 7 authority warrants the imposition of sanctions.

8 C. Plaintiffs Are Entitled to Recovery of their Reasonable Attorneys’ 9 Fees.

10 As a direct result of Defendants’ disregard for standard discovery protocol 11 and obligations, Plaintiffs have been forced to incur unnecessary and significant 12 expenses. Plaintiffs’ counsel has engaged in an ongoing meet-and-confer campaign 13 with Defendants’ counsel since January 2017. Wolff Decl. ¶¶ 6-25. Though 14 Defendants should have produced this discovery without prompting, Plaintiffs had 15 to send numerous emails and formal letters, participate in at least five telephone 16 calls, prepare for and attend two Court hearings on the matter, and now prepare the 17 instant motion. All of these efforts could have been avoided had Defendants and 18 their counsel recognized their duty to engage in discovery in good faith and their 19 evidence preservation obligations at the outset of this matter.

20 As is fully set forth and supported in Plaintiffs’ Detailed Time Entry, Exhibit 21 24 to the Wolff Declaration, attorneys at Hanson Bridgett LLP have worked 66.1 22 hours since January to obtain relevant discovery from Defendants at a total cost of 23 $30,562.50. This does not include Plaintiffs’ counsel’s anticipated time to prepare 24 for and attend the hearing on this matter, which Plaintiffs’ counsel estimate to be an 25 additional three hours. Accordingly, Plaintiffs request that this Court award 26 Plaintiffs’ counsel $32,137.50 in the form of sanctions against Defendants and their 27 counsel.

1 V. CONCLUSION

2 Plaintiffs brought this matter in federal court, in part, because of the 3 professionalism and decorum of counsel that regularly practice in federal court – 4 and because of the clear no-gamesmanship-shall-be-tolerated discovery rules, 5 including document preservation obligations. But here, Defendants and their 6 counsel have withheld and destroyed critical evidence in this matter, refused to 7 comply with customary obligations with respect to the preservation of evidence and 8 cooperation in discovery, and blatantly disregarded this Court’s Order. Defendants’ 9 spoliation of relevant evidence occurred with Defendants’ counsel’s full knowledge 10 and complicity. Even worse, Defendants now wish to benefit from their bad acts by 11 seeking summary judgment on the basis of a lack of evidence supporting Plaintiffs’ 12 claims against them. This egregious conduct by Defendants and their counsel must 13 be addressed in a manner to protect federal-court practice, and discourage future 14 misbehavior. Plaintiffs therefore respectfully ask that this Court grant Plaintiffs’ 15 Motion for Monetary Sanctions against Charlie and Frank Ferrara and their counsel 16 at Bremer Whyte Brown & O’Meara.

17 DATED: August 14, 2017

Respectfully submitted,
